In the event of a non-weather related disaster, NWS Springfield will provide event specialized hydrometeorological weather services to requesting agencies. Hazardous materials such as noxious gases, chemicals, and radioactive materials are routinely stored and transported across Missouri and southeast Kansas. There is always a risk that these substances could be released accidentally or through terrorist action, affecting the environment and the population.

In addition to providing forecast assistance, if requested by emergency management officials, NWS SGF will disseminate a Civil Emergency Message (CEM). A CEM will generally be issued if the event will impact a large number of people
